If you are contemplating a project that you anticipate designing over the winter and starting construction in spring, you need to have a wetland delineation completed yet this fall. The deadline is approximately mid-September.

The DNR does not allow wetland delineations to be conducted between November and April.

Without knowing if a wetland is present, site design cannot begin, and the DNR will not issue a storm water permit without a delineation, even if the site is high and dry.

Please contact our Environmental Specialist, Jon Motquin jonm@martenson-eisele.com with all of your wetland needs.”
